District to study renovation options

A recent survey of renovation plans for the heating and air-conditioning systems at Barth, Hale Creek and Wick elementary schools indicate the cost will be greater than ex-

Architects from the Grand Rapids-based Greiner Inc. presented the Romulus School Board with an analysis Jan. 14 of each elementary school and projected costs for renova-

The three schools were built in the mid-1970s, and utilized a packaged roof top multi-zone heating and cooling system which was popular during that period, according to Chuck Olson, chief architect of Greiner.

The typical school design then was a square configuration, which was considered to be a more efficient use of

The buildings were basically windowless and the roof top system offered an inexpensive way of providing heating and cooling in an era when air con-ditioning of classrooms was considered advanced.

'In this type of system, most of the controls were furnished by the manufacturer and the heating and cooling systems were located on the roof, which describes the system as employed at the three schools," Olson said. "All maintenance requires the maintenance personnel to go outside to service the system.'

While the system seemed like a good, inexpensive and popular method of providing heating and cooling to schools in the 1970s, Olson said in time it was realized these units were not as reliable as conventional systems and were extremely difficult for personnel to maintain and service outdoors.

Many of the building designs were not suitable for all air systems, according to the Greiner architects.

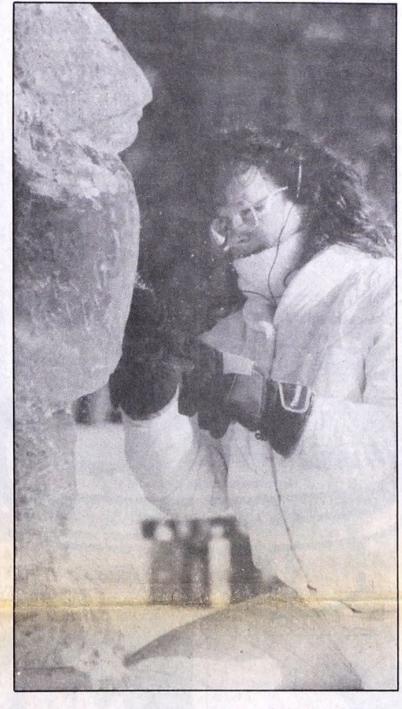

Each unit has too much equipment contained in a small area, making it very difficult to check settings on a nice day and almost impossible to service during inclement weather.

'No longer are these packaged roof top multi-zone systems popular or recommended by architects and engineers," Olson said. "As a result, many of these systems have been removed and replaced by more conventional systems such as unit ventilator or air-handling equipment with either newer digital or pneumatic controls providing ease of maintenance and a high degree of reliability."

The architects recommended the following options: Replace controls and add hot water coils and boiler heating system. Cost would be $300,000. Advantages include: lowest cost to equip and install,

Romulus councilmembers are making a strong effort to prevent auto theft.

On Jan. 14, the council entered the Western Wayne Auto Theft Elimination Effort, which provides detection, investigation, arrest and prosecution of organized automobile theft networks within Sandra S. Miller, commanding officer for the Western Auto Theft Unit, presented background information on WWATEE to the council and Mayor Beverly McAnally.

The act creates a budgetary authority which allows for the receipt and distribution of proceeds by the independent law enforcement entity, according to Miller.

On Dec. 5, 1989, a special meeting of the WWATEE consortium was staged to inform member communities of the conducting surveillance of and Wayne County prosecutor's decision that WWATEE comply with opinion 6561.

"It was the consensus of members that an inter-local agreement should be drafted for use by both WWATEE and Western Wayne County Narcotics Unit," Miller said.

The agreement has the following purposes:

 To provide member public agencies with the capability of apprehending people who are involved in automobile theft and related crimes across jurisdictional boundaries.

 To provide a means of training certified peace officers of member public agencies in the techniques of automobile theft investigation and undercover functions.

Off the ground Students to benefit from innovative new program

The new Mentorship Program at Romulus Senior High School is taking off with great Coordinator Linda Bowman has already placed 40 students with several businesses and city and state departments. The mentors include representatives from WJBK-TV, 37th District state Rep. James A. Kosteva, The Associated Newspapers, the local fire and police departments, the Detroit News, Michigan State Police, Oakwood Hospital and Omnicom Cable.

Bowman recently announced the launch of the program on the school television station, and received an overwhelming response.

"About 800 out of the 1,200 students responded and said they wanted to be in the program," Bowman said. "I had to stay within the guidelines of the program, and I went to school counselors asking for which students were the at-risk students and could excel with just a push.

A program objective is to prevent students from dropping out. The program also provides students with an opportunity to network with businesses at an early age, where they can make contacts for possible future job opportunities.

"I'm going to definitely place 50 students this first semester," Bowman said.

Under the program guidelines, representatives of the business community accept students for one semester, according to Bowman. The students will observe and be assigned to a mentor from the business.

'This is an implementary program designed to prevent the Catch-22 syndrome," Bowman said. "The idea where you can't get a job without experience and you can't get experience without a job.

Students selected for the program will have an initial meeting between their parents, Bowman and the selected mentor from the business. Bowman is now making the appointments for the one-on-one meetings with the students.

Linda Bowman

It took a lot of foot work to gather community support for the program, according to Bowman. After gaining approval from the Business Alliance Group, Bowman asked Mayor Beverly McAnally for her support.

'After I received their stamp of approval, I went to the Romulus Chamber of Commerce luncheon where I tried to get more support," Bowman said. "I also did some cold calling."

Bowman is working with Ed Clark, coordinator for nerships for Education. About 60 businesses in Romulus are involved with the partnership program, which assists district schools to help further education for all students beyond the classroom. "Each individual program will be customized to the mentor and the student," Bowman said. "This program will be open to all levels of employers and occupations.'

Bowman has a motto for the program: "Today's training is creating tomorrow's work

The Mentorship Program is an independent study for an elective credit, which is being funded by a federal grant. A summer session is available for students who have a heavy fall and winter schedule.

"The major goal is for students to develop business contacts outside the school in order to help them envision the future," Bowman said.

Resident found guilty on 4 sex-related counts

Detroit Recorder's Court Jan. 28 to serve 25 to 50 years in prison on four first-degree criminal sexual conduct charges stemming from a sexual assault of Brown's 14-year-old stepdaughter.

Brown, 41, appeared before Detroit Recorder's Judge James Rashad and was found guilty of the criminal sexual conduct counts, according to Romulus detective Sgt. Dan Snyder, investigating officer of the incident.

"He was extradited from Florida," Snyder said. "He was first charged with seven counts of criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, but three of the charges were dropped.'

abuse, which included Brown having intercourse with the stepdaughter, were spread over a period between 1985 and 1989, according to Snyder.

"The 14-year-old at the time was brought in by her grandmother and gave a full statement," Snyder said. "Juvenile hearings were held to determine who would get custody of the child at the time.

Jaycees begin recruiting

They're back.

The Romulus Jaycees are actively recruiting new chapter members who are willing to make a commitment to the community.

The Jaycees are looking to make positive changes in Romulus, according to Romulus Jaycees President Joe Ehlert. Joining a Jaycee Chapter gives people the opportunity to get involved," Ehlert said. "It is gratifying to gain personal growth while helping those in need. We will have the opportunity to help educate, support and work with people of all

A few projects are already gearing up to collect money for the chapter funds. Jacyees is a non-profit organization, and all money will be spent on worthwhile projects to benefit the Romulus community, according to Ehlert.

Strength in numbers is very important, and the Jaycees do have those numbers," Ehlert said. "There are well over one hundred Jaycee chapters in Michigan alone.

The Jaycees offer the opportunity to meet new people and work with other members on community development. Volunteers can even chair events.

"Everyone has their own personal reason for joining a group like the Jaycees," Ehlert said. "I joined the Romulus Jaycees to become involved in various community activities and to improve my leadership qualities and organizational

"It is my personal feeling that I will gain a lot of selfsatisfaction and business experience while contributing my time to assembling a new Jaycees chapter. I hope that the Romulus community will agree that these efforts will prove to be very worthwhile."

Membership dues are $40 for new recruits. The Romulus Jaycees need help with the fol-lowing projects: Shamrocks for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Fourth of July Parade, Earth Day-City Beautification, Adopt-A-Highway, Bake Sale and Card Party.

On Feb. 5, the Romulus Jaycees have been invited to visit the Westland chapter at the Old Country Buffet, 5535 Wayne Road. The next general membership meeting will be staged 5:30 p.m. Feb. 7 at the Merriman Executive Inn, 7600 Merriman Road.

Resident charged in assault

By MARGO DEWEY ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus resident was recently charged with assaulting a Taylor man with a firearm Jan. 13 on Wayne Road, south of Van Born Road.

Remon M. Nelson, 21, was arraigned Jan. 14 before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski. Nelson was charged with felonious assault and felony with a firearm, according to police detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus.

'He was involved in one of those arguments with exgirlfriends, friends," Kraus said. "It ended up Nelson assaulted a 30-year-old Taylor resident. Nelson allegedly pointed a gun at the victim. No shots were fired. Nelson was apparently trying to threatened the Taylor resident.

A Jan. 23 exam date is scheduled before 34th District Court Judge William J. Szlinis.

Contract reached

Negotiators from the Wayne-Westland school district and the Wayne-Westland Educatron Association reached a tentative agreement Monday afternoon just hours before a strike deadline.

District officials said they would not recommend the board approve a March millage election unless they had settled the contract dispute which began last spring. Members of both bargaining teams met in downtown Detroit Monday morning and afternoon. With the aid of a state mediator, a tentative agreement was reached.

Adult education growing locally

By MARGO DEWEY ANP Staff Writer

Adult education is growing in Michigan, especially in cities like Romulus.

More than one-third of all Michigan residents older than 25 lack high school diplomas, according to Richard Gardner, a professor of adult and continuing education at Michigan State University. Those individuals are now in demand for an adult vocational training program that will help them obtain a job.

Through businesses such as the Adult Career Training Corp. in Romulus, adults who have not obtained a high school diploma can register for free computer programming classes, according to Bill Murphy, director for adult education in "This is our third year for the program," Murphy said. "We offer a 480-hour program which focuses on Word Perfect, Lotus, keyboarding and other computer aspects.

'A lot of people who take the course can get jobs from here. More and more businesses these days want employees to understand the meaning of a spread sheet.'

The classes are offered free to all adults who don't have a high school diploma, to high school graduates younger than 20 or to adults who have a general education certificate. For high school graduates older than 20 who are interested in taking the courses, the cost is

"We have two instructors teaching the programs in the morning and at night," Murphy said. "The class size does not exceed 25.'

The classes are divided into three eight-week sessions, each 160 hours. Every eight weeks begins a new group, Murphy said.

The tuition-free vocational training is available to Romulus residents through the cooperative efforts of ACTC and the local school district. School districts provide the administrative and supervisory support, as well as student counseling, according to Murphy.

'Adult Career Training provides the equipment, software, curriculum, student recruitment and job-placement assistance," Murphy said. "We also offer a one-day-a-week Word Perfect class every Tuesday and Thursday.'

Vocational programs are successful not only because of the instructional quality, but also because those who complete the courses are offered placement assistance, according to Gardner.

'Students learn skills that are marketable in today's workplace but, more importantly, they learn how to get those jobs that are available,' Gardner said. The next session will begin March 11. Anyone interested can phone 941-0610.

Board, teachers sign 2, year pact

A two-year contract which School District for 15 years. the 1990-91 school year and a 4 was approved by the Van Buren School Board Monday

"I feel very positive about the contact and very satisfied. I believe the agreement reached is in the best interests of the young people entrusted to us," said School Superintendent James Richendollar. "I'm proud to work with people who place the children first.'

Richendollar said the contract settlement was less than the current Wayne County average, and illustrates the dedication of all of the district employees to pull together to ensure the continuance of the six-hour school day.

The contract for the 327 members of the Van Buren Education Association also includes additional medical benefits and an early retirement plan.

Teachers with 20 years of experience, and who have been employed by the Van Buren months before that time.

provides a 6 percent raise for quality for an early retirement incentive of $35,000. However, percent increase for 1991-92 the district will only offer the plan if 18 or more teachers choose the early retirement

Medical benefits are now offered by a new insurer, the Michigan Education Special Services Association. The new insurer offers increased benefits at the same fee charged by the former carrier, according to a VBEA spokesman. Medical and life insurance benefits will remain the same, but additional coverage will be provided for eye care and de-

An increase in benefits for long-term disability was also granted in the new contract.

The last contract granted teachers a 6 percent increase in the first and second years of the contract and 7 percent in the third year of the pact. The three-year contract expired on Aug. 31, 1990, and negotiations for the new pact began three

Stress increases as Gulf crisis escalates

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER Belleville City Editor

Since the crisis in the Persian Gulf escalated into a war two weeks ago, a Belleville chiropractor has reported an increase in stress-related problems among his patients.

"I see a lot of tired-looking people and individuals with stress-related problems. People seem almost to be addicted to the news. During the first days of the war, some of them were staying up all night to watch the news," Dr. Glenn Sisk said. "We are talking to a lot of people about their anxieties. It seems the bottom been part of a war before in such a real sense. Today, we are watching the action on television in our living rooms as it happens, and that produces a lot of stress and fear.

The Persian Gulf conflict has added anxiety to those who were already worried about the economic downturn, he said. Stress and anxiety, added to the pressure of other problems, can cause physical and emotional reactions.

"It is impossible to get away from the radio and television coverage of the war, but sometimes people must find ways to relax and get away from the emotion is fear. We have never tension by taking a walk or stress and making one feel less listening to music. Personally, I find that listening to classical music helps me to relax. Others may find different ways to deal with their stress," Sisk

Legislators react to family issues resulting from war in Gulf

By RANDY FRANK ANP Staff Writer

A bill which would exempt wo parents in the military from simultaneously serving in Operation Desert Storm was forwarded last week to the House Armed Forces Committee.

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor), a supporter of the bill, signed a letter sent Jan. 18 to Richard Cheney, secretary of defense, asking him to exempt married couples with dependent children from deployment to Saudi Arabia.

"Our military men and women now in the Middle East know the cost and dangers facing them," Ford said in a press release. "They're bravely out there on the front lines for us, and we should do all we can for them back here. It's a different military now, and families are a part of it, like it or not. We need to update our policies to reflect this."

Parents using such an exemption would be required to extend the length of their military service time equal to the time they would have served in the exempted assignment.

Children with both parents deployed to Saudi Arabia usually stay with relatives or friends.

As of Jan. 24, Cheney had not responded to the letter.

'We have received many phone calls from Michigan residents who support the bill," said Mike Russell, a spokesman for Ford.

Russell received one phone call from a Michigan woman in the U.S. Air Force Reserves who was activated Saturday, and will be sent to a U.S. military base. Her husband, also a reservist, is currently on active-alert status.

In a further show of support. the U.S. Congress exempts military personnel from paying 1990 taxes and extends their 1991 tax deadline to Au-

Earlier in the month, U.S. Rep. Benjamin Gilman introduced a bill to update the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, which would relieve some of the financial burden experienced by a soldier's family.

The bill increases protection for military personnel including reservists called to active duty.

Agreement is hopefully near

It seems that once again a strike of teachers in Wayne-Westland schools was averted in the 11th hour.

Union leaders and district bargainers struck a tentative deal of sorts in the form of a contract just hours before a strike deadline set by the union.

Isn't it great to have good news from the schools for a change?

Congratulations to both sides. The negotiations were rough, and the battle was sometimes muddy, but hopefully now it will be the students' turn to reap some benefit.

The terms of the contract have yet to be released, union membership still must vote on it, so we will reserve judgment on the conditions agreed upon.

We can guess an approximate increase of 12 percent for the teachers over two years with the third year left open for negotiations. That was the latest proposal thrown on the table. Not too shabby. There are a great many workers who would scream from the hilltops if given such an increase.

Teachers have an important job, however. There is no denying it.

School officials also won at their end. Now that a bargain has been struck, the district feels comfortable seeking a millage from the community.

A 7.75-mill proposal will be placed on the Wayne-Westland ballot in March. The proposal is a package deal taking into consideration the renewal that was lost in November, the increase asked for in November, and an override of the Headlee Amendment.

We can go back and forth on the merits of splitting the issue. The first time around it would have been best to split the renewal and the increase as the public might have been more willing to agree on the renewal.

This time there is not "real renewal" for that millage has already been lost.

The district officials hope for a less negative electorate in this campaign, and we will do the same. We hope the citizens group organized to fight the district at every turn realizes what their smear campaign did to the young people of the district in November. We hope they take a different stance this time around, although that appears unlikely. We are appalled already by the letters submitted by this organization which claims to support education in the Wayne-Westland community. Although agreeing to print letters to the editor expressing all points of view, we are not willing to link our name and reputation to their efforts. We wish the district the best, and, unlike the mayor of Westland, we support the millage which will be placed before voters in November. Hospitals should still care for people

As small local hospitals are gobbled up by larger chains, and as talks for additional purchases continue, it is wise for all involved to remember that the health care of the people is at stake.

Concerns have been expressed about the monopolization of local hospitals.

Whether the buyouts are good or bad remains to be seen. The true test will be whether the community is able to provide decent medical care - emergency and otherwise - for people of all walks of life.

The indigent, the elderly and the children all deserve proper care from the health industry.

As long as our hospitals are run as private corporations rather than as public health agencies, it will always be in the back of our minds that quality health care may be sacrificed for the almighty dollar. Let us hope this is not the case, and ask all health-care professionals - whether they be chairmen of the board or orderlies - to always be wary and knowledgeable of the primary focus. Quality health care.

Arrogance rules with some officials

The eyes of the world today are on the Persian Gulf and the aggression of Saddam Hussein. However, not all of the arrogance and despotic attitudes reside in the hearts of potentates in international affairs.

riles the board" by Patricia Brown indicates that arrogance and propagandist despotism rules and reigns in the hearts of a number of school officials of the Wayne-Westland schools.

What really burns these elected officials of the district is that Mayor (Robert) Thomas made a pre-emptive strike at their March 13th millage and made a direct hit. Why wouldn't he know what they are thinking since four city-connected employees sit on the school board? Anyone else could have come to the same conclusion as did the mayor just by reading school officials' comments in the press last year.

Andrew Spisak is quoted in your article as saying, "He (Mayor Thomas) did a disservice to this community, and he doesn't know it. How can he be against something that does not exist?" The millage does exist, and the mayor, like most citizens knows that the school board has not been acting in a responsible manner for some time. The mayor, as any other citizen, no doubt is basing his prediction for the future on the past performance of these "enraged" board members. He is merely stating advice that should this behavior continue, the millage would fail. Whether Your article "Mayor's speech the mayor is doing a disservice or a service remains to be seen, depending on the wisdom or the enraging ignorance of the board.

Leonard Posey has characterized others as "ignorant" who do not agree with his position on the millage issue. He may be getting "sick and tired of the Bob Thomases of the world who talk to us as if we are liars and cheats," but the fact remains that a school district which lies and cheats its own state fraudulently out of state aid just might lie and cheat about other matters as well.

Kathleen Chorbagian has exhibited other "crazy" behavior at the board meetings during the past year prior to the mayor's state of the city speech. She perhaps is "made crazy" because she is the swing vote which made Dennis O'Neill the superintendent and began the rapid "demise of the Wayne-Westland schools." Isn't is strange that a "crazy" Wayne resident would threaten the Westland mayor?

Mathew McCusker is the vice president of the association of local school boards in the state, and if he is re-elected to our board in June, he may be elected to the president of that association. Wouldn't it be wonderful to allow him to do to all the school districts what he has done to the Wayne-Westland schools in the past few years? Maybe the citizens should be "boneheaded" like the mayor and not return Mathew McCusker to the local school board in June.

Dennis O'Neill has gallantly 'agreed to freeze his pay, rather than accept the increase approved in his contract." Watch what happens to that "freeze" March 14th if the millage would pass by some miracle on March 13th. How could he possibly accept any salary increase with custodians and maintenance men, secretaries and clerks and teachers and paraprofessionals without contracts and all other administrators with contracts but frozen open salaries? He will have to get by on the other $100,000 for Anyway you look at the Wayne-Westland school scene, you see the arrogance and the despotism of Hussein only on a much smaller sacel. Maybe it's time to extricate the local citizens from the control of school officials who are "enraged, crazy, sick and tired" and otherwise out-of-control.

Township continues recycling

Recyclable items are being accepted at the Van Buren Township recycling center each Saturday between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Tin, aluminum, glass, newspaper and plastics are collected weekly and recycled.

Before bringing the items to the collection site, tin cans should be rinsed and the labels removed, and glossy inserts should be removed from newspapers. Green, brown and clear glass should be separated, and lids and caps should be removed before they are brought to the collection site.

Aluminum foil, trays and non-deposit cans should be rinsed and crushed, and plastics, including milk, juice, shampoo and laundry soap containers, should also be rinsed, according to township environmentalists.

Volunteers are needed to staff the center, Organizations which supply people to staff a Saturday collection day will receive $50 from Waste Management Inc.

Information on recycling or volunteering may be obtained by calling 699-8934.

Belleville rips Eagles 98-64

Romulus cagers showed up for their rematch against neighboring Belleville Tuesday night.

But for all purposes, the Eagles should have stayed home.

'They dominated us in every aspect of this game,' said second-year Romulus Coach Chris Molloy, after the Tigers drubbed his club 98-64. "This is the worst game of the year for us."

Belleville didn't waste any time against their nonconference opponent. The Tigers, behind the artillery of rugged Ron Hunter and Derrick Boles, soared to a 35-18 firstperiod lead and never looked back.

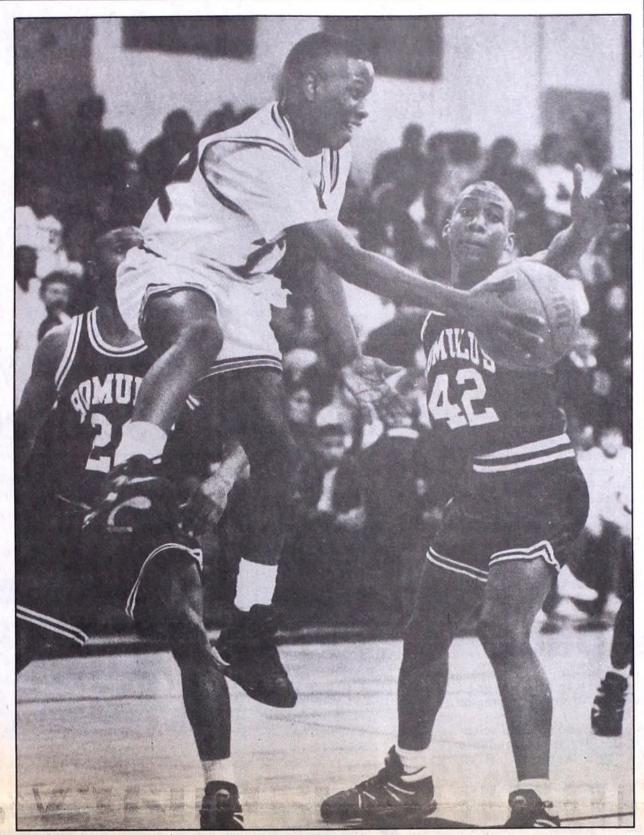

Hunter tossed in nine of his game-high 25 points and Boles, a 6-5 senior forward, counted eight of his 16 points in that pivotal frame.

It didn't get any better for the Eagles, either. The Tigers built a commanding 61-36 lead at the half as Belleville Coach Michael Garland used his bench indiscriminately.

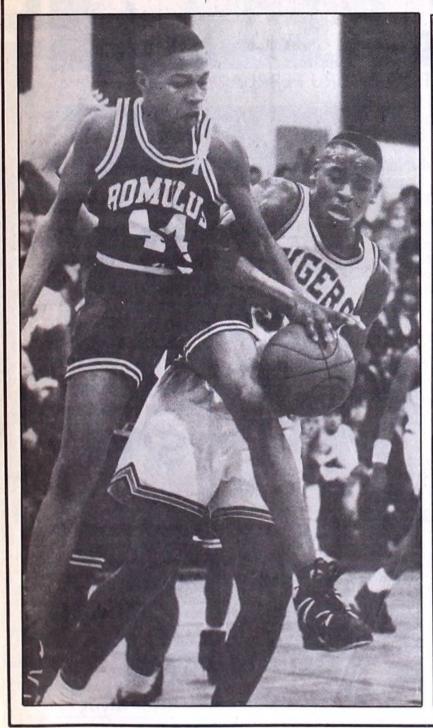

All five Tiger starters ended in double figures. Joining Hunter and Boles were Ron Hill, Carl Bow and Tyrone Hicks, who all had an even dozen.

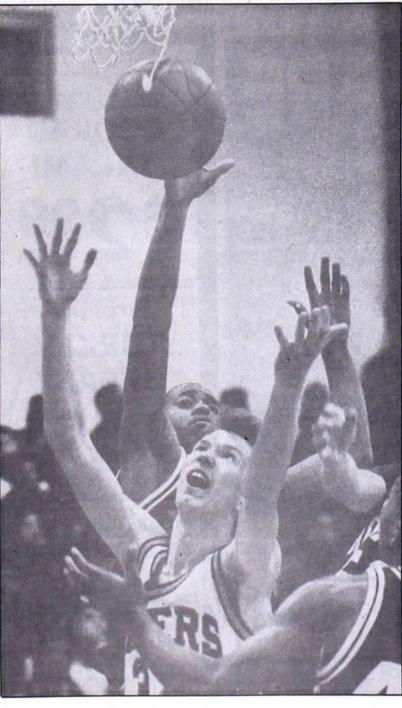

Romulus put two players in the double-digit scoring column as Daniel Winston led the Eagles with 12 and Torrey Mills settled for 10.

Belleville, ranked in the top 10 Class A ratings, improved its record to 13-1 on the year. Belleville will face Dearborn Fordson Friday night.

Inkster is back on winning track

Inkster returned to the winning track Tuesday as the Vikings overpowered Ecorse 77-60 in a Suburban Athletic Conference basketball game.

The victory keeps the title embers burning for the Vikings who must beat league-leading Oak Park Friday if they wish to remain in the title chase.

"There's no doubt about it," said Inkster Coach George Thompson Jr. "It's showtime. We can make amends for our transgressions by beating Oak Park.'

But that won't be easy, even Thompson admits that. The Redskins scalped Robichaud by 30 points in their last outing.

With Marcus Flie dominating the backboards, Inkster bolted away from the pesky Red Raiders in the second period. Ahead 15-12, the Vikings made some breathing room with a 21-12 secondperiod edge that provided them with a 37-24 advantage at the

Zebras suffer loss to Ann Arbor

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH ANP News Editor

A horrible fourth quarter blew a slight two-point deficit into a tough 58-45 loss for Wayne Memorial against Ann Arbor Huron Tuesday night.

The nonleague loss, which dropped Wayne to 9-4 overall (8-1 in the Wolverine 'A' Conference), snapped a five-game winning streak. Wayne previously had beaten Monroe, Trenton, Southgate, Wyandotte and Lincoln Park.

Lack of size and depth, among other things, were the main reasons for the loss.

'Our tallest guy is 6-1, and Ann Arbor has four of their top six guys who are taller than 6-5," Henry said. "They just wore us down and beat us bad in the fourth quarter.

Things seemed much rosier for Wayne in the first half. The Zebras jumped out to a 27-24 lead, paced by junior forwards Greg Hartman and Rick Barns.

Hartman finished the evening with 20 points and eight rebounds. Barns added eight points and 12 rebounds.

Our tallest guy is 6-1, and Ann Arbor has four of their top six guys who are taller than 6-5. They just wore us down and beat us bad in the fourth quarter.

- Dan Henry Wayne coach

The third quarter was a sign of bad things to come for Wayne. Ann Arbor Huron outscored the Zebras 13-8 before extending the lead with a 21-10 run in the fourth quarter.

"It was a tough loss," Henry said. "We were mentally ready, and our kids wanted to beat a real good team. They played real hard, and were disappointed.

'We'll keep plugging along. I always say if you play hard, something good will happen." Wayne will face Lincoln Park Friday and Ypsilanti and Belleville next year.

Belleville grappler is 34-0 this season

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Despite his billing as the best 130-pounder in the state this year, Belleville senior wrestler Steven Davis was seeded No. 2 at the Mt. Clemens Invitational.

The honor of being top seed went to Eaton Rapids defending state champion Phil Jude.

When it came down to the final match, it was Davis and Jude for the championship.

"You had two excellent wrestlers on the mat," Belleville Coach Gerald Malecek said. "The fans got their money's worth in this one." Davis and Jude dueled to the finish, and when the score was tallied, the Belleville wrestler claimed a 15-5 victory and the gold medal.

It was Davis' 30th consecutive victory for the 1990-91 season, and he remains the top 130pounder in the state.

Until someone can prove otherwise.

In the meantime, Belleville prepares to take on Trenton tonight for its final dual meet before the Wolverine 'A' Conference championships. The championships also will be decided at Trenton Saturday.

Belleville is the defending champion. The Tigers have lost to Southgate Anderson. The champs must finish ahead of the challenger in order to salvage a share of the crown.

The league also includes Lincoln Park, Wayne Memorial, Monroe, Dearborn Fordson, and Wyandotte.

Romulus spikers fall to Adrian

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Romulus spikers let their defenses down for the first time this year.

And the Eagles paid the consequences as they dropped their decision in the South Central Conference.

Adrian snapped the Eagles' three-game winning streak 3-1 Tuesday night, leaving the title picture blurred. The Maples came out in front of a 15-5 opening game decision, then made it 2-0 with a 15-9 victory. However, Romulus, with the help of Michele Scarrow, who chipped in six service points, rallied back to win the third game 15-8, forcing a fourth game.

Adrian again surfaced on top 15-8 in the deciding finale.

Disappointed Romulus Coach Gail Coleman singled out the team defense as one of the reasons for the demise.

"We didn't play defense like we normally do," Coleman said. "They had two exceptional hitters, who were on target, and we couldn't bring it up. It happens. We are just going to have to regroup for the next one.'

Scarrow and seniors Brooke Hammers and Jennifer Daniel stood out for the losers. Hammers and Daniel each had 18 assists.

The victory lifted the Maples to an even 2-2 SCC record. Romulus and Ann Arbor Huron appear to be heading for a showdown for the last SCC title. The River Rats' only loss in the league is to the Eagles. The league will lose Romulus after the current school year because the Eagles have elected to play an independent schedule next year.

In the meantime, Romulus is preparing to host the annual Romulus Roman Invitational, co-sponsored by The Associated Newspapers.

The invitational will be played at Romulus Senior High School beginning at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 9.

"They had a lot of young players in their lineup a year ago, so I assume that they will be back. They are young and tough," Coleman said.

Along with Romulus and Clarenceville, six other varsity teams will compete for honors. The field will include teams from Taylor Center, Taylor Baptist Park, Melvindale, Lincoln Park, Riverview Gabriel Richard and Woodhaven.

Persian Gulf War effects extend to local industry

By PATRICIA BROWN ANP Staff Writer

The rippling negative effects from the Persian Gulf War are reaching the local automotive industry

All Big Three carmakers reported slow sales before the war, and a slowdown since the announcement of the war.

Ford truck dealers are thankful they have the Ford Explorer two-door and fourdoor models. This year, the two-door model was chosen as Four-Wheeler Magazine Car of the Year, and last year the four-door model was selected for the honor. It is this model that keeps them selling.

Even though most companies aren't selling a lot, sales for the Explorer have been good. It is the Explorer that is keeping many Ford salespeople in business, according to Steve Visotsky, sales manager at Jack Demmer Ford in Wayne.

"Trucks are selling particularly well," Visotsky said.

Visotsky believes keeping a good attitude throughout the Middle East ordeal will help Ford salespeople continue to

'Yes, I think the war is going to affect us, because it makes people very tentative about making major purchases," he

Other area dealers agree, but not necessarily on the same strategies to overcome the slow period.

At a time when most dealers have reduced the dollars they spend on advertising, Lou Ward, sales manager at John Rogin Buick, said his company is spending more on advertising.

"It's about putting what you got out in front where the buyers can see it. We've pumped up our advertising,'

Ward also reported an upswing in the number of used cars they have been selling.

"There is a trend of people looking at used cars, rather than new. I think it is because of the uncertainty. Instead of shelling out big dollars for a new car, they spend less, and buy a used car," he said.

There is some hope down the road, according to Ward.

"I don't think it will last long. I guess that within the next two to three weeks, it (car sales) will begin to pick up," he said.

Traditionally car sales improve in the spring. Both Ward and Visotsky predict the next few months will be better.

Joe Himmelspach, general sales manager at Crestwood Dodge, offered another view of the war and car sales.

Car sales at Crestwood Dodge were down a couple of days before Jan. 15.

"The days before were slow, but once everybody saw that something was happening, we began to see more people in the showroom," he said.

This time last year, the Dodge Caravan was one of the hottest-selling vehicles in the country. Himmelspach attributes this to an incentive program. For the first time ever, Chrysler offered a $1,000 rebate on the mini-van.

"We sold lots of them," he

This year, the Caravan has continued to be popular for a number of reasons. Himmelspach believes the redesign of the vehicle is one reason for its popularity.

The car wash has been open since Dec. 11, and already there have been four separate vandalism incidents.

"In the last two weeks, we've had someone come through with a BB gun and shoot out the

Johnson and his partner, Rita Milen, are offering a $500 reward and are hoping someone will provide a lead.

They have tried about everything possible. Last week, they hired a guard, and have even wash to catch the vandals.

"He was parked across the street and saw somebody shoot the license plate, but he isn't sure which person, the driver or the passenger, shot out the windows," Johnson said.

Johnson thinks he knows who is responsible. The incidences are being investigated by the Westland Police Department.
